Charlotte Schmitz

Senior, Washington State University

Charlotte is working toward a dual degree in Construction Management and Architecture at Washington State University. She is president of the Design Build Institute of America student chapter, president of the Voiland College Engineering and Architecture Coordinating Council, an active member of the Associated Students of Construction Management, team captain of the Associated Schools of Construction Design Build team, alumna of Sigma Kappa-Alpha Gamma chapter, and soon to be a student ambassador for the School of Design and Construction.

Charlotte has interned with Robertson and Olson Construction, Inc. in Portland, OR, and with Swinerton Builders in Denver during the summer of 2015 and 2016. She would like to combine her background of architecture in the construction industry by working closely with alternative-delivery method projects, and start as a project engineer after graduation.

She has had a passion for construction her entire life. Growing up around the residential industry where her dad works as a general contractor for a self-owned company, she decided to study architecture and later construction management after encouragement from her uncle. Upon graduation, she has accepted a full-time job offer with Swinerton Builders where Charlotte hopes to utilize her dual-degree to strengthen the construction process and learn every angle of the industry.
