

2016-2017 Scholarship Recipient

Frank and Susan Young Endowment Scholarship

Griffin Collins

Senior, University of Washington

Griffin is working toward his Construction Management degree at the University of Washington. He is the treasurer for AGC student chapter, and is an active volunteer with Habitat for Humanity. He will participate in the Associated Schools of Construction Student Competition as a member of UW's mixed-use team in February 2017.

Griffin's first introduction to construction was through the renovation of his parent's late nineteenth-century home. Griffin hopes his career in the industry will offer opportunities that create tangible, positive differences in communities throughout the region.

Griffin is currently interning with Sellen Construction and is assisting with a tenant improvement project in South Lake Union. He also interned with Absher Construction on a hotel project in 2015. After graduation, Griffin hopes to work as a project engineer for a local company in Seattle.
