Senior, Central Washington University

My name is Jessica Harris and I'm currently working toward my Construction Management degree at Central Washington University. I am involved in the CWU AGC Student Chapter, serving as president for the 2017-2018 academic year. I also stay active on state and national levels, and have had opportunities to attend the 2017 Washington State AGC Convention and the AGC National Convention/Con-EXPO.

I have always had a passion for construction and have interned with both Atkinson Construction and Granite Construction. I competed at the 2016 and 2017 Associated Schools of Construction (ASC) Reno Construction Competition and received third place in 2017. I was recently inducted into the Sigma Lambda Chi International Construction Honor Society and plan to continue my involvement with CWU's chapter.

After graduation, I would like to join a competitive general contractor's team specializing in heavy civil projects. Outside of school and work, I enjoy hiking with my fiancé, staying involved in my community, riding horses, and raising a small herd of beef cattle.

Additionally, Jessica was a recipient of the following 2016-2017 AGC Education Foundation Scholarships: the Mr. A. E. DeAtley Memorial Scholarship, the Betcher Family Foundation Scholarship, and the Larry Johnson/Prime Construction Co. Scholarship.
