Christopher Erb

Senior, University of Washington

My name is Christopher Erb, and I am a student at the University of Washington working toward my Construction Management degree. I am the captain of the Heavy Civil 2018 Reno Competition team, a teammate on the MCA competition team, and a member of the AGC student chapter.

Construction has played a large part in my life mostly due to my father. Our first project was a treehouse that we constructed together one summer growing up. I am currently working as a summer intern at Andersen Construction Company. I began assisting the estimating team part-time and transitioned to full-time this summer working at a jobsite.

My short-term goal upon graduating is to work full-time for a general contracting company focusing on heavy-civil projects. My long-term goal is to earn my MBA and to join a company that shares my personal values and career goals. In my spare time, I enjoy guitar, hiking, snowboarding, bowling, traveling, and spending time with friends and family.
