Hayden Larson

Senior, Central Washington University

My name is Hayden Larson, and I am working toward a Bachelor's Degree in Construction Management at Central Washington University. Prior to studying at CWU, I earned my Associate's Degree. I currently am a Sigma Lambda Chi Member as well as a member of the AGC and Mechanical Contractors Association (MCA) student chapters. I was also chosen to participate in the ASC Reno Competition this winter, which I am very excited about.

I have been surrounded by construction my entire life. My father is an alumnus of CWU's Construction Management program and has been very successful in his career as a Project Manager. Along with my father, both my grandfathers were in the industry as Estimators and Project Managers. My childhood revolved around construction offices and jobsites. This sparked my interest and thus lead me to follow in my father's footsteps and study Construction Management at CWU.

This past summer I interned with Granite Construction in the Eastern Washington Division. I worked as a Project Engineer on various small asphalt paving jobs around Eastern Washington. My long-term goal is to work my way to an upper level management position and to one day run my own company.

In my spare time I enjoy sports, hunting, fishing, and spending quality time with friends, family and my dog.
